Written Testimony As a former professional windsurfer, and as someone tightly connected to the field of ocean sports for 30+ years, I have observed that women have always gotten the lowest priority in competition. I was always told that if there were more women, the prize money would be better. I think opportunities have improved, now that women are included in such contests as the Jaws event....but we still have a long way to go. I support this effort to bring surfing up to par with gender equity.
